BIG BATTLE IN MEXICO CITY

NEITHER SIDE ABLE TO MAKE ANY HEADWAY—MANY KILLED AND WOUNDED.

City of Mexico, Feb. 11.—The fed- erals and rebels fought a seven-hour drawn battle in the heart of the city today.

When darkness put an end to the fighting neither side appeared to have gained any material advantage.

Estimates of the casualties run as high as one thousand, although accurate information can not be obtained at this time. The dead, certainly will be counted by the hundreds.

Foreign residents for the most part kept under cover, but three Americans are known to have suffered injuries from stray bullets. They are Lloyd Osbourne, an author, who was shot in the thigh; Dr. R. H. McCrosson of Lincoln, Neb., and Mark Johnson, a negro, of Madison, Ill.

Artillery played the chief part in the day's fighting, but rifle fire was kept up continuously, though more or less ineffectively.

President Madero and his ministers express satisfaction tonight with the day's work and ventured the opinion that tomorrow would see the overpowering of the enemy.

Gen. Felix Diaz, in his arsenal stronghold, appeared as defiant as at any time since he was released from prison by the mutinous soldiers, and promises a repetition tomorrow of the terrific bombardment, the fierceness of which is attested by the many par-recognizing that a crisis in the Mexican situation had been reached, president Taft shortly after midnight summoned to the White House Secretary of State Knox, Secretary of War Stimson and Secretary of the Navy Meyer, together with a number of army and navy officers. At 1:30 this morning the last of these summoned had arrived, and with Secretary Hilles, a conference was begun in the library of the White House.

As a result of the early morning conference three additional battle-ships will be sent to the east coast of Mexico today and orders will be issued at once for the immediate placing in commission of two army transports for the transport of troops to the City of Mexico for the protection of the lives of Americans and foreigners, should the situation there grow any worse.

Tax for State Institutions.

Oklahoma City, Ok., Feb. 12.—To place the State Educational Board on an income derived from an annual ad valorem tax is the purpose of a bill offered by Senator Aycock of Texas county. The controversy of eighteen months ago, involving the State Board of Education, and the attempt through the Akin measure to abolish fourteen of the educational institutions, gave rise to the agitation for a fixed legislative tax each year out of which the institutions would be financed and do away with the struggles before the legislatures for appropriations.

Senator Aycock's bill, it is believed, makes ample provision for the institutions, since the income on a valuation of $1,200,000,000 of property taxable would yield a little more than the institutions received from the legislature two years ago. In many states the State University and A. & M. colleges are so maintained.

The tax rate fixed in the bill for the university is one-sixth of 1 mill, which would yield about $200,000 while the Agricultural and Mechanical college at Stillwater would receive two-fifteenths of 1 mill, yielding about $180,000. The revenue to other educational institutions would be about as follows: Colored A. & M. College $40,000, the district agricultural schools $20,000 each, the college for women at Chickasha $40,000, school of mines $30,000, Edmond Normal $50,000, Alva and Weatherford $40,000, Tahlequah, Ada and Durant $35,000, Tonkawa, $40,000, Claremore $30,000.

Roosevelt's Reply to Taft.

New York, Feb. 11.—Politicians of all parties are awaiting with keen interest the speech to be delivered by Colonel Roosevelt at the Lincoln birth day dinner to be given at the hotel Astor tomorrow night under the auspices of the National Progressive Club. Colonel Roosevelt, it is understood, intends to make some stirring remarks that will be in the nature of a reply to President Taft's speech at the republican rehabilitation banquet held recently in this city.

Other speakers at the banquet tomorrow night will be former Senator Albert J. Beveridge of Indiana, ex-Congressman W. Bourke Cockran, and Oscar S. Straus, the Progressive candidate for governor of New York last fall. Women are to be admitted to the banquet on an equal footing with the men. They will be given seats at the festal board instead of being relegated to the gallery, as at most gatherings of the kind. Furthermore, there is to be a woman speaker on the program, Miss Mary Antin, the Russian Jewish author, whose recent book, "The Promised Land," created a sensation.

tially destroyed structures within a radius of half a mile.

The greatest loss of life resulted in a charge of Rurales, who, with a daring amounting to foolhardiness moved against a rebel battery which mowed down men and horses.

The execution done in the prolonged engagement today was sufficient, in the belief of Senor de la Barra and the diplomatic representatives to warrant a further attempt to prevent another battle within the city. Senor de la Barra sent a message to President Madero saying:

"In the name of humanity and as a Mexican who is free of all political and revolutionary parties, I wish to offer my services in any way possible to effect peace without further bloodshed."

Madero replied, thanking him, but declaring that no terms other than an unconditional surrender could be made with Diaz.

That the president is determined to make this a finish fight is evident, though not more so than Diaz, who realizes that there will be no clemency in case of surrender.

Almost within a stone's throw of each other, these two fighting forces each armed with more than twenty cannons apparently expect to continue the struggle, regardless of the loss of life.

Public opinion is the most powerful piece of machinery known to man. A case in point is the bill regulating interstate shipments of booze into dry territory. Such a law has been urged on congress for the past quarter of a century, but the liquor interests were powerful enough to thwart every move on the part of the prohibitionists. After years of agitation, however, the movement was too strong to be resisted and the wrath of the dry element became more to be dreaded than the liquor crowd, and congress passed the whole thing in about three days, the house even finding time from its mass of business accumulated at the end of the session to pass it a second time in order to rectify a slight error. The reason is plain, a lot of those congressmen knew it.

Formal Election of President Today

Washington, D. C., Feb. 12.—Woodrow Wilson of New Jersey and Thomas R. Marshall of Indiana will be duly and officially declared elected president and vice president, respectively, of the United States today in the hall of the House of Representatives. The senate and the house will convene at one o'clock that afternoon in joint session and tellers representing each body will count the electoral votes of the states, which will be delivered to them by the president pro tempore of the senate.

The event will be marked throughout by dignified simplicity, and it will be, as usual, one of the most ceremonial in the political life of this country. The galleries of the House will be occupied by members of the diplomatic corps, prominent government officials and their wives and members of the families of the senators and representatives.

The senate and the house will assemble at noon as usual. After being called to order by their respective presiding officers and listening to the usual prayers by their chaplains the Senate will proceed to the hall of the house. Shortly before one o'clock the president pro tempore of the senate will leave his chair and will proceed to the East door, preparatory to leading the procession of senators to the south wing of the capitol. He will be accompanied by the secretary of the senate and a squad of capitol police will be in waiting as an escort.

The procession will be formed with the president pro tempore of the senate at the head and closely followed by the assistant doorkeepers of the senate, carrying two boxes containing the electoral votes, previously received by the presiding officer from the special messengers of the different states. The members of the senate will bring up the rear. The procession will move slowly through the capitol building past the old senate chamber, now occupied by the supreme court of the United States; across the rotunda, with its towering expanse of dome, and through Statuary Hall, where marble effigies of men the several states have honored stand as sentinels for all time.

Speaker Clark will be informed of the coming of the senators, and representatives occupying seats on his right hand will vacate them in order to make room for the four score or more senators. The president pro tempore of the senate, upon his arrival in the House of representatives, will take a seat at the right of the speaker and will be presented with the gavel. He will then unlock the wooden boxes, and, announcing the purpose of the gathering, will open the packages in alphabetical order, handing the certificates to the four tellers.

When the counting has been concluded showing that Wilson and Marshall have received 435 votes, Roosevelt and Johnson 88 votes and William H. Taft 8 votes, the presiding officer will inquire whether any one desires to file a protest against the result as announced and in the absence of such protest he will declare the successful candidates duly elected.

As soon as this simple function has been performed the senate will return to its chamber, and both bodies will resume the ordinary work of legislation.

Adopted after a long and bitter dispute in the famous constitutional convention of 1787 in Philadelphia, the electoral college system has become a sort of fifth wheel, a useless appendix in fact, owing to a radical change in the theory of government in the United States. At the same time it is likely to be permitted to survive for many years to come, unless it should again become the center of momentous disagreements such as the Tilden-Hayes controversy of 1876.

The electoral college this year is going to be 48 members bigger than the college which elected Mr. Taft president in 1908. The increase is the result of the reapportionment made by congressional action in 1911 which brings a total of 48 more electoral votes to the college than formerly composed this body.

You will miss a rare treat and a bushel of fun if you fail to see the International Operatic Company at the Normal Auditorium Thursday evening. It is really a big show. The price of admission is 50c though it sells in every city of this size for $1.00, 264-3t

Mother's Advice To Her Daughter

A Real Live Doll to Fondle Is Woman's Greatest Happiness.

One of the most important matters about which women concern themselves is their future status as a grandmother. And she is wisdom itself who knows of or learns of that famous remedy, Mother's Friend. This is an external application for the abdominal muscles and breasts. It certainly has a wonderful influence, allays all fear, banishes all pain, is a most grateful encouragement to the young, expectant mother, and permits her to go through the period happy in mind, free in body and thus destined to anticipate woman's greatest happiness as nature intended she should.

The action of Mother's Friend makes the muscles free, pliant and responsive to expansion. Thus all strain and tension upon the nerves and ligaments is avoided, and, in place of a period of discomfort and consequent dread, it is a season of calm repose and joyful expectation.

There is no nausea, no morning sickness, no nervous twitching, none of that constant strain known to so many women, hence Mother's Friend is really one of the greatest blessings that could be devised. This splendid and certain remedy can be had of any druggist at $1.00 a bottle, and is sure to prove of inestimable value, not only upon the mother, but upon the health and future of the child. Write to Bradford Regulator Co., 132 Lamar Bldg., Atlanta, Ga., for their book to expectant mothers.

CAMPBELL'S DOGS WIN IN BIG EVENTS

Oklahoma Official Owns Two of the Best Animals in the Country.

Guthrie, Okla., February 12.—In Col. "Swamp" Campbell, clerk of the State Supreme Court, Oklahoma has one state official who follows the dogs every time there is an opportunity, and in "Naomi Jane" and "Baby Girl" he has two animals that have won several big coursing meets. The former cleaned up on all other entries at Rogers Springs, Tenn., during the past week, when she won the derby of the All-American Field Trial Club. Baby Girl, a dog raised by Louis N. Beedles of Guthrie, won a meet recently at Pawhuska, Ok.

Truthfully speaking it is Col. W. H. L. Campbell, but he is little known by other name than "Swamp" in the Southwest, for he is a well-known character all over Texas, Oklahoma and Arkansas. He acquired his title of "Colonel" last April when he was appointed a member of Gov. Lee Cruce's military staff with that rank. He has been twice elected clerk of the State Supreme Court. In 1907 when state hood was inaugurated and again in 1910 for a four year term.

Campbell says he has always been a lover of dogs. Even back at Snow Creek, N. C., where he was born in 1867 he became a follower of the hounds on long hunting trips in that state, and he kept up the custom after coming to Texas in 1890 and to Oklahoma in 1905. The name of "Swamp" he acquired because of his admiration of Gen. Francis Marion, the swamp fox of revolutionary days.

Campbell's "Naomi Jane" won handily at Rogers Springs last week. She ran the first brace against Kipton C. owned by J. J. Torey of Cando, N. D., and in the afternoon she ran against Marse Jane Fleet, owned by W. A. Reed of Boston, Mass. The latter dog failed to get in the money, however, on account of lack of speed. Naomi Jane showed great speed in this race and won the stake.

Col. Campbell called a meeting of all persons interested in bird and coursing dogs during the past season, and a state organization was formed to hold state field trials. It is also the intention of getting on one of the national circuits. For several years such events have been held at Blackwell, Pawhuska and other places in this state, but nothing like a state field trial association was attempted until "Swamp" Campbell became the father of the movement.

The annual meets at Pawhuska have become among the best-known coursing events in the entire country and always attract the best dogs from not only the adjoining states of Missouri, Kansas and Arkansas, but also from extreme Eastern and Northern states and even Canada.

In preparation for the Pawhuska meet Campbell took Baby Girl, Naomi Jane and several other dogs to North Dakota to train them, and he gives to this trip great credit for the showing these dogs have made thus far. He is advertising the Oklahoma meets and expects to pull off a big coursing event this year.

Campbell is one of the best-known sportsmen in the state. He is an inveterate follower of the rod and gun, and during the quail and duck seasons he is often in the field. He heads frequently some of the biggest parties in the Southwest, and he has an interest in the big hunting lodges on the Oklahoma salt plains, the best duck hunting grounds in the country.

"Swamp" Campbell was a bachelor until about two years ago, and the romance in his life he kept concealed until that time. He was generally looked upon in the role of a woman hater. It was a surprise to his friends, therefore, when he announced during September, 1910, that he was going to be married, and the bride proved to be a sweetheart of fifteen years before. They became separated by chance and she married another. It became known to Campbell, however, that she was a widow and living in Elk City, Ok., and he again pressed his suit, this time successfully. The romance started at Rockwall, Texas.

When Campbell's wedding occurred the ceremony was performed in the private office of Gov. Charles N. Haskell, with Chief Justice Jesse J. Dunn of the State Supreme Court officiating. Dunn and Campbell were old political friends, dating back to the organization of the political parties in Oklahoma and Indian Territories.

MRS. LARAMORE TELLS TROUBLES

Lady in Goodwater Describes Her Distressing Experience and Tells How She Was Finally Relieved.

Goodwater, Mo.—"Ever since I was a little girl," says Mrs. Riley Laramore, "I was a great sufferer from dyspepsia. I suffered misery after eating, and had terrible heartburn."

I thought I had to suffer this way as long as I lived, but when I began to take Thedford's Black-Draught, in small doses, every night, the heartburn was all gone in a few days, and I could eat without distress."

I took two small packages in all, and although that was some time ago, the dyspepsia has not returned."

I speak a good word for Thedford's Black-Draught whenever I have the opportunity."

If eating causes distress, we urge you to try Thedford's Black-Draught. It cleanses the system, helps the stomach to digest its food, regulates the bowels, and stimulates the liver.

It acts gently and is without bad after-effects. Try it. Price 25c.

Tallest Building Soon to Be Completed

New York, Feb. 12.—Two thousand workmen are engaged day and night in putting the finishing touches upon the Woolworth Building which is to be completed within a week or two and the completion of which is to be celebrated at a big banquet to be given next month. The building now almost completed holds the record for height among all buildings ever erected by man. It is true, the Eiffel Tower in Paris is 234 feet higher, but it is a mere steel skeleton and cannot be classed as a building in the sense accepted for that term. The building proper, which occupies an area of 30,000 square feet, is 334 feet high and is surmounted by a tower, 86 by 84 feet, rising 366 feet above the main part of the building.

The work of excavating for the foundations was begun on November 4, 1910. Sixty-six caissons were sunk to a depth of 115 feet until they reached solid rock and the sixty-six concrete piers, resting upon the rock constitute the foundation of the structure. The foundation was completed in the Fall of 1911, when the erection of the steel frame was begun. The latter was completed in July of last year and the brick and stone work was completed at the beginning of the present year. Twenty-four thousand tons of steel went into the making of the building and the total weight of the structure is estimated at 250,000 tons.

The building has 55 floors, 25 of which are in the tower, and the aggregate floor space is about 33 acres. The building and tower together contain about 2,000 offices, with 3,000 windows and as many doors. To enable the occupants of the building to reach their respective floors there are thirty-four passenger elevators of which twenty-four are grouped near the Broadway entrance, while the others are near the entrances from Bar-

HOUSE ACCEPTS SENATE ACTION

PASSES WEBB BILL AS SENATE MEASURE IN RECORD BREAKING TIME.

Washington, Feb. 11.—By a viva voce vote the house late Tuesday re-passed the Webb bill to prohibit the shipment of intoxicating liquors into "dry" states, as it passed the senate yesterday, and thereby removed a parliamentary obstruction which threatened to delay its final passage until another session of congress.

Although the parliamentary experts had thought earlier in the day that a special rule would be required to get the bill before the house again, Representative Clayton of Alabama called the measure up under a rule permitting the house to consider without reference to a committee any bill passed by the senate which is substantially the same as one that has been reported by a house committee.

Republican Leader Mann and Representative Fitzgerald, made a joint order against the bill, contending it did not come within the rule because it was not a house calendar. A senate number instead of a house number and was not substantially the same as the Webb bill as originally introduced.

Speaker Clark overruled the points of order and the bill was passed without debate or division.

Chinese Adhere to Old Custom

New York, Feb. 12.—Can it be, after all, as set forth in the unconventional but expressive language of Mr. "Chuck Conors," the oracle of Chinatown, that the story of the Chinese adopting the fashion of celebrating the Occidental New Year was pretty much "bunk"? The adoption of the western calendar it will be remembered, was among the many important changes ordered by the new Government soon after the establishment of the Republic of China. According to all report the Chinese in America were delighted with the change and with all the zeal of recent converts they celebrated their New Year on January 1 last. Of the fact of the celebration there were many outward and visible signs in the little district bounded by Pell, Mott and Doyer streets, known as Chinatown. The store fronts were profusely decorated with the emblem of the new republic intertwined with the Stars and Stripes. And some of the young Celestial "blooms" celebrated the birth of the New Year in approved Western fashion by eating chop suey and drinking wine in the Oriental until almost the peep of day.

But it is evidently hard to break away from a custom that is centuries old. Today marked the beginning of Sun Nin, or the old Chinese New Year a season of celebration with the Chinese long before republics and reform administrations were dreamed of in the Flowery Kingdom. And in this fact, perhaps, is to be found the reason why the local Chinese, in spite of queueless heads and occidental clothes, today went about their preparations for a fortnight of jubilation in precisely the same manner as they did before they hung the Caucasian calendar on their walls.

The narrow streets of Chinatown are bright with flags again and great red placards bearing words of greeting are pasted at the side of the doorways. Within doors immense pictures of the great men of China, peacock feathers and bright colors adorn the rooms, while immense quantities of nuts, candies and imported wines and liquors, with generous pots of tea, are placed where callers may help themselves.

Some of the younger Chinese, when questioned as to the double celebration, were emphatic in their declarations that their countrymen were sincere in their adoption of the Occidental New Year and that only the old men and the women were adhering to the custom of their venerated ancestors. A more satisfactory explanation probably lies in the statement of one of the leading Chinese merchants, who expressed the opinion that while it might be more progressive to pay $20 for a table at a cafe on the night of December 31, it is better business to celebrate in the old way on the wane of the twelfth moon. For the old-fashioned celebration with flags and firecrackers never fails to attract a multitude of visitors to Chinatown.

Since the adoption of the state primary law, which abolished nominating conventions, the associations annual meetings have been made occasions for important conferences of the Republican editors and other party leaders throughout the state. LINCOLN MEMORIAL DEDICATED Urbana, Ill., Feb. 12.—Eloquent tribute was paid the memory of Abraham Lincoln today, when Lincoln Hall a magnificent new building erected at the University of Illinois, was formally dedicated. The dedication was accompanied by an all-day program of exercises in which noted educators, churchmen and others of national prominence participated.

The forenoon was devoted to a literary program. The speakers and their topics included the following: "The Social Sciences," Dr. Albert Shaw, editor of the Review of Reviews; "Language and Literature," Professor Bliss Perry of Harvard University; "Philosophy," Professor Frederick J. E. Woodbridge, of Columbia University.

The dedication exercises were held in the university auditorium this afternoon, following a luncheon in honor of the guests. The exercises began with a memorial address on Lincoln by Dr. Hugh Black. The other speakers included Governor Dunne and James of the university. At the conclusion of the program in the auditorium the assembly adjourned to Lincoln Hall, where the action of the day was delivered by Bishop McDowell of Chicago.

Lincoln Hall was made possible by an appropriation of $250,000 by the Illinois legislature in 1909, the one hundredth anniversary of Lincoln's birth, and it was decided to give the building its present name and dedicate it to the study of Humanities.

The building is of brick and stone, and terra cotta. The central feature of the entire plan is a series of departmental or seminar libraries extending across the front of the building, on the first, second and third floors. Joining each seminar library are one or two conference rooms intended primarily for graduate students, and available for research or conference and for meetings of seminar graduate classes.

In general, quarters are provided on the first floor for the classics and for the philosophical group or department; on the second floor, for English and modern languages; and on the third floor, for the social sciences group, comprising history, economics, politics and sociology.

The decorations of the building comprise a notable series of memorial panels, tablets, medallions, inscriptions, etc., relating to Lincoln and his times. Over the main entrance is the inscription, Lincoln Hall. Just within the memorial entrance hall and sunk in the marble floor, in brass letters, is a copy of the address of Lincoln at Gettysburg, while at the back, facing the visitor on his entrance, is the grand marble staircase in a recess, which is the niche for a statue of the late president.

On the outside across the front of the building and above the second-story windows is a series of ten panels in terra cotta, representing scenes in the life of Lincoln from his activity as a rail-splitter to the re-establishment of peace at the close of the civil war. In a similar position on the two wings of the building is a series of inscriptions containing quotations from Lincoln's speeches

FRIENDS PUSHING

GEN. D. M. HAILEY

In view of the fact that Gen. Van Zandt will not be a candidate at the Chattanooga reunion for re-election as lieutenant general of the trans-Mississippi department, friends of Gen. D. M. Hailey, commander of the Oklahoma division, are beginning to push him for the place. Of course it goes without saying that he will have all the support the Oklahoma division can give him, and with his prominence in the councils of the organization, his chances for election are undoubtedly most flattering. At all events he is deserving of the honor, and the News sincerely hopes to see it conferred on a man worthy of it.

"It cured me of a dreadful cough," writes Mrs. J. F. Davis, Stickney Corner, Me., "after doctor's treatment and all other remedies had failed." Excellent for coughs, colds or any bronchial affection.

Mrs. A. F. Meriz, of Glen Ellyn, Ill., writes: "I had a hard, stubborn cough that I had doctored for over six weeks without my getting any better. Our druggist finally recommended Dr. King's New Discovery and my husband bought a dollar bottle. After using two-thirds of it my trouble eased down, and it was not long till I was completely cured. Dr. King's New Discovery surely deserves all the praise it gets." Sold by clay street and Park Place. The equipment of the building, when fully completed, will be thoroughly modern and as nearly perfect as it is possible to make it. The fifty-fourth floor will be used as an observatory and on top of the structure, beneath the gigantic flag, will be placed a powerful searchlight. The twenty-eighth floor will be occupied by a luncheon club and in the basement there will be a swimming pool, a restaurant and a bath-scheller.

The total cost of the building is estimated at about $13,500,000, of which amount $4,500,000 were paid for the ground. The building was erected for F. W. Woolworth, who was born poor at Rodman, N. Y., April 13, 1852, went through public school and a business college and in 1879 opened the first "Five Cent Store" at Utica, N. Y. The venture prospered, he extended his business to other cities and now has a chain of more than 300 such stores throughout the country, from which he derives an enormous income. More than one-half of the capital required for the erection of the Woolworth building was contributed by capitalists in France. The rent of the building is expected to be about $2,500,000 a year.

Some Dry Statistics.

The supplement to the December Crop Reporter, issued by the U. S. Department of Agriculture, gives the production and value of the staple crops in each state in 1912. These figures are the most accurate obtainable and furnish the only reliable basis for comparisons. Oklahoma's 1912 production was: Corn, 101,878,000 bu., $41,770,000; Wheat 20,096,000 bu., $15,072,000; Oats, 23,494,000 bu., $7,988,000; Cotton, 1,039,000 bales, $66,496,000; Kafir-corn, final figures not reported, latest estimate of value, $6,534,000; Total, $137,860,000. This is an average production of $1957 for each of Oklahoma's 70,430 square miles. The same report shows a production of staple crops worth for each square mile: in Kansas, $1892; in Missouri, $2181; in Arkansas, $1798; and in Texas, 1643. The average section of land in Oklahoma in 1912 produced staple crops which sold for four per cent, more than was obtained from the average section of land in the four surrounding states.
